

services

Wednesday, 14 May 2008

Last Updated Friday, 17 October 2008

The modular structure of our services will provide results already at an early stage to achieve your individual business goals.

Implementing the project demands we combine the advantages of the classical consultancy with most recent findings from money and capital market theory, bank controlling, and financial management.

Our consulting services are independent of the system provider. Based on your requirements we work out adequate optimisation, extension and integration measures.

Our consultants will support your projects demonstrating effective problem ownership gained through long-time experience in business and consulting.

Our services are based on the following focusses:

- financial engineering
- information technology
- project management
- best-sourcing & eServices